PERMANENT OFFICERS CHOSEN BY ARTS '22

Yesterday noon Arts '22 held a typical class meeting—typical because the president, Bob Hall, presided in his accustomed diplomatic style over a gathering which, as usual, rushed the business through with the greatest possible noise, and the least possible discussion. The main interest centered around the election of officers for the graduation exercises, none of the positions being filled by acclamation. It was also vaguely hinted that the ceremonies scheduled to take place this coming May would not be surpassed in any respect by those of preceding years and that there would be introduced an original element peculiar to the class of Arts '22.

PHI. KAPS WIN OUT IN OVERTIME GAME

In a slam-bang affair, Phi Kappa Pi beat Epsilon Phi by the score of 2-1, ten minutes of overtime having to be played to decide the game. The ice was in bad shape and as a result it was a common sight to see men sprawling over the rink. The play was very fast at times however, although there was a tendency to bunch too much and thus hinder each other. Both goal-keepers played well and only by careful watching were they able to bat away the bouncing shots which were at all times tricky. Pratt scored for the Phi Kaps while Ramsey put one in for the Epsilon Phis, and in the overtime period, Menzies poked in the deciding goal.

STUDENTS TO TOUR EUROPE THIS SUMMER

International Tours Arranged for University Men

MINIMUM COSTS

Great Britain, France, Italy & Scandinavia to Be Visited

A group of four International Student's Tours to foreign countries, membership in which is open to students and instructors in American colleges and universities, has been organized for the summer of 1922 under the auspices of the Institute of International Education. Each of the tours, in addition to being under the general sponsorship of the Institute, is also under the special auspices of the appropriate international society in this country, as follows:

Students' tour to Great Britain.—The English-Speaking Union.
 Students' tour to France.—Federation de l'Alliance Francaise.
 Students' tour to Italy.—The Italy America Society.
 Students' tour to the Scandinavian Countries.—The American Scandinavian Foundation.

The International Students' Tours have been established as a non-commercial undertaking for the purpose of enabling American college students to travel in foreign countries at the lowest possible cost, under capable guidance and instruction, under dignified auspices, and under conditions which permit a full realization of the value of such an interchange of visits from the point of view of international relations. They have been organized to place the benefits of travel within the reach of representative young Americans, who in a few years will take a leading part in the intellectual and commercial life of the United States, in the belief that nothing contributes more generously to education and to an intelligent interest in international affairs than does a contact with the larger world and a personal acquaintance with the history, the traditions, the resources, and the problems of other nations, which, taken together, make up national character and determine the course of international events. The underlying purpose of the Students' Tours has been stated thus by one of America's foremost diplomats.

"It is my belief that no factor in international peace counts for more than the understanding and sympathy enjoyed mutually by the peoples of two nations and that no factor creating such sympathy and understanding counts for more than the exchange of visits by those young men and women who are still in their educational period and who are charged with the stewardship of the future."

The Students' Tours have been organized under the general supervision of a Board of Advisors composed of the following:

Dr. Stephen P. Duggan, Director of the Institute of International Education, chairman; President Frank Aydelotte, American Secretary of the Rhodes Scholarship Trustees; Dr. S. C. Capen, Director of the American Council of Education; Mr. Paul D. Cravath, President of the Italy America Society; Professor John W. Cunliffe, Secretary of the American University Union in Europe; Dr. John H. Finley, former Commissioner of Education of New York State; Dean Virginia C. Childersleeve, chairman of the Committee on International Relations of the American Association of University Women; Mr. Hamilton Holt, President of the American-Scandinavian Foundation; Mr. William Fellows Morgan, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Italy America Society; Mr. Frank D. Pavey, General Vice-President of the Federation de l'Alliance Francaise; the Honorable George W. Wickersham, chairman of the Board of Directors of the English-Speaking Union.

SKIERS AND SNOWSHOERS TO COMPETE

Will Meet a Number of the American Colleges

OVER WEEK-END

Features Are Scheduled for Annual Winter Carnival

Next week-end will see the climax in the activities of the McGill Ski and Snowshoe Clubs, when the annual Winter Carnival will be staged under the direction of their executives. Entries to this meet will be on hand from Dartmouth, Williams, Middlebury and Vermont Colleges, while it is also expected that there will be men entered from several of the local and neighboring athletic organizations. Last year this carnival proved a decided success and the efforts of all intimately concerned are being directed to ensure the equal success of the coming events.

Some ten days ago McGill sent a team down to Dartmouth to compete in the Carnival taking place in Hanover at that time; our men were ousted from first place by the narrow margin of two points, winning the ski proficiency test and two of the snowshoe races. On their own territory and over familiar courses the Red and White representatives may be depending on to put up just as good a showing, with the odds all in favor of them excelling their previous performances.

The ski dashes and proficiency tests, as well as most of the snowshoe events, are called for Friday, while the ski jumps are billed for Saturday afternoon. These latter are well worthy of special mention due to the fact that novelties will be introduced in the way of somersaults by a couple of the American entrants.

Fuller particulars will be printed tomorrow and Friday.

A NATIONAL WELFARE BILL IS ADVOCATED

Revolutionary Measure to Be Introduced in House

GOVERNMENT STRONG

But Coalition of Moderate Elements Gaining Influence

At the last session of the Mock Parliament the Revolutionary Party was returned to power with an overwhelming majority over its divided opponents. An announcement of the constitution of its cabinet, together with a manifesto of its aims, made its appearance in the public press yesterday. The earnest voter will do well to study this document. The manifesto of the Revolutionary Party as made public yesterday is the second statement of its kind. It is a distinct improvement upon its predecessor. The leaders of the Revolutionary Party have evidently realised the truth of the late prime minister's contention that the Mock Parliament is a body representing the Dominion rather than the university, but at the same time they have resolutely maintained their position that legislation must be for the worker, which is synonymous with the college undergraduate. This second manifesto promises no such trivial and trifling measures as were found in the original statement of the Party's aims. The Revolutionary Government, with a safe working majority, has now become more revolutionary than to concern itself with the futile agitation to have crap-shooting constituted a major sport. Instead of this the new manifesto is concerned with reconstructive problems of industrial democracy. The new party announces a new era. The people are at last to come into their own. Aristocracy and Capitalism are to be despoiled in the interest of the working man and of the student.

In another column an article which originated at the Government headquarters outlines the plans for tonight's session. The first act of the Government will be to introduce a National Welfare Bill, which should be studied with care by all who have the welfare of the people at heart. The taxation of capital is to afford a means by which all classes may assume economic independence "new and great works"—this is rather vague but more will doubtless be heard tonight—are to be undertaken to insure employment for all. At the same time the employment of women and youths is to be forbidden. The tyranny of examinations is to be abolished. Free beer is to be strongly advocated.

Such is the policy of the new Government. That of the opposition is not so emphatically defined. In all probability it will fulfil the main function of an opposition policy and be mainly obstructive in character. The more moderate elements—the members of the Progressive and Representative parties—have formed a coalition, and will attempt to secure a government defeat on some of the more radical measures of the National Welfare Bill. Reports have been whispered that the coalition has been gaining influence, and it is thought likely that the Government will find it necessary to overcome stiff opposition in order to win a majority on all clauses of the new bill.

"God loves the Irish," said Mike to Pat as they were walking on the pavement.
 "He does that," answered Pat, looking up at Andrew Carnegie whizzing by in his limousine; "but he seems to help the Scotch."

"I've been looking for my husband for the last two hours," said an agitated woman to a calm one.
 "Don't be excited, madam," replied the latter. "I've been looking for a husband for the last twenty years."

MEETING OF STUDENTS' SOCIETY

A special meeting of the Students' Society will be held in the Union on Tuesday, February 28th, at 5 o'clock. In order to expedite the business of the meeting notice of all questions to be asked should be in the hands of the Secretary of the Students' Council at least 48 hours prior to the meeting.

COMMERCE '23 WIN GAME WITH LAW '23

Last Year's Champions Enter Semi-finals

In the last schedule game of the third round of the Interclass League Commerce '23 defeated Law '23 by the score of 12-2. At the commencement of play, good pitching and fast fielding by both sides kept the score close, but after Commerce '23 had amassed six runs in the third inning, the game was no longer in doubt.

MacCullough for Commerce '23 pitched his usual good game and allowed only a few hits when they did not count and tightened up when the play became close and struck out the remainder of the team. Magid and Connor gave a fine exhibition of fielding and materially aided in keeping the score so low. Chamberlain, Campbell and MacCullough collected most of the hits and scored the majority of the runs between them.

Lidstone was on the mound for the losers and was a hard man to hit, in the early stages of the game but weakened in the third inning and was unable to stop the heavy Commerce hitters. Smith and Solomon fielded well for their teams and made some pretty saves of almost sure hits.

The heavy sluggers on the Law team turned out to be Martin, Long and Lidstone. They connected safely several times but the weak batting of the rest of the team caused them to be left on the bases.

The teams lined up as follows:—

Law '23	Comm. '23
Marvin	Campbell
Lidstone	McCullough
Smith	Magid
Solomon	Duncan
Macklaier	Connor
Long	Chamberlain
Thibodeau	R. F.
Taylor	Umpires: Gamble and Henny.

Score by innings:—
 Law '23 1 0 1 0 0 2
 Comm. '23 4 2 6 0 x 12

The semi-finals will take place on Friday February 24th when Medicine '26 will meet Science '23, Commerce '23 drew a bye and will meet the winners of the Friday game on the following Tuesday, February 28th.

MONTREAL, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 1922.

WORKING AGAINST TIME.

Many students have formed the bad habit of studying against time. That is, if they are studying a book they figure on reading so many pages an hour, and no matter how the difficulty of the subject matter may vary, they plow straight ahead at the rate of speed which they have previously set for themselves. When the ambitious student remarks to a class-mate that he has covered so many pages of an author in what is a remarkably short time, it seems that he has accomplished a great deal of hard work. It is hard work, but the question is, what does he know about the book he has been reading? If the ideas he has gained from this rapid perusal of the book are vague and indistinct, then this method of study is unprofitable. It would be better to go slower. Then the student would be sure of knowing some part of his subject thoroughly.

This gives rise to another question. The term at McGill is short, and this means that much work must be done in a short time. The idea of some lecturers seems to be to pile an amount of work upon their classes that would keep them quite busy during a ten-month term. In certain courses certain ground must be covered and the only remedy here is the drastic one of lengthening them by a year or more. In some of the courses that are more strictly cultural it is ridiculous for the lecturer to prescribe an amount of work that is next to impossible for the student to cover in the time at his disposal. Why not cover less ground, but cover it more thoroughly? After all a college education merely arouses our interest in certain subjects and founds a base of knowledge for us to build on in future years. If this base is flimsy, the edifice erected on it will be flimsy also.

As long as we have the lecturer who cannot see beyond the bounds of his own little subject, however important that may be, just so long will we have the student who studies against time. Possibly the idea is to give the student a lot of work to do in the hope that he will pick up a smattering of knowledge. The ideal should be a thorough study of basic principles that would arouse and stimulate an interest that "cramming," rather than arousing, tends to destroy.

WHAT DOES "MOCK" MEAN?

The meeting of the Mock Parliament this evening and the changes in the questions brought before the house, as compared with those of former years, might cause a little thought to the students interested in the Literary and Debating Society.

The Parliament was originally, and continued until a few weeks ago, to be a place where the students were given an opportunity to give their views on questions of national interest. There was always plenty of humor and, on one occasion each year, a meeting that was given over to the burlesque, but they never lost sight of the main idea of the gatherings.

There seems to be an idea prevalent among a certain number of the students at the present time that the principal function of the Mock Parliament is to provide comedy for the tired student. If this is what is expected of the meetings, it is hardly to be demanded that an organization with a title like that of the Literary and Debating Society should continue to sponsor the gatherings.

It is only natural that the meetings should return to their natural status in the ordinary course of events. Even the most light-headed student will grow weary of burlesque, while the more sober-minded part of the undergraduates who enjoy occasional lapses from the ordinary procedure, will not stand for a prolonged change. The last meeting of the Parliament was amusing to everyone; another one of a similar nature will tend to weary both spectators and participants.

CHANGED ROLES.

Two McGill teams will leave for Toronto this evening to compete with the aggregations from other universities at hockey and basketball. It is customary on occasions of this kind for groups of students to gather at the railway station and give the players a send-off, and always a group of women students is present to cheer the departing players.

Tonight the roles will be reversed. The McGill teams are composed of women students and it is the men's turn to give them a send-off. There has never been any opportunity given to the men to show their appreciation of the support tendered by the women students on former occasions; the chance given to the students tonight is unique.

Every man at the station this evening will be giving McGill teams a send-off and, at the same time, showing that the attitude of the women students at other times was not overlooked.

The final meeting of the series of public meetings which have been carried on in the Church of the Messiah on Sherbrooke Street West and Simpson Street since last November, will be held next Sunday evening at 8.15. The speaker will be the Rev. Harold E. B. Speight of King's Chapel, Boston, the oldest Unitarian Church in America. His subject will be "The Religion of the Plain Man." Mr. Speight is an Englishman, educated at the Universities of Aberdeen and Oxford. After being graduated from Aberdeen he was Assistant Professor of Philosophy in that institution and then held a teaching Fellowship at Oxford. From 1912 to 1914 he was the associate minister of Essex Church, the leading Unitarian Church in London, England. He resigned on account of ill-health and after serving for a time in Victoria, B.C., became minister, in 1915, of the First Unitarian Church of Berkeley, Calif. During the war he served in the American Expeditionary Forces as Chaplain overseas. Last fall he was called to King's Chapel, Boston, succeeding the Rev. Sydney B. Snow, now of the Church of the Messiah, Montreal.

There will be a special public meeting on March 26th although the series will end this month, when Mr. S. K. Ratcliffe of the Manchester Guardian, who will at that time visit this city to speak at the Montreal Women's Club, will give an address in the Church of the Messiah.

The Editor,
McGill Daily

Dear Sir:

I beg to reply to the letter of Francis Rooley appearing in to-day's issue.

I fear Mr. Rooley has formed a somewhat hasty judgment regarding this new Internationalist Club which has come under discussion. Nevertheless I thank him for his interest and criticism, and I quite agree with him that clubs which have only a name and nothing else are more or less of an abomination.

I have no right to say what precise activities the Internationalist Club, if formed, may choose to follow, but I can assure him that its promoters have no intention of organizing still another "smoker club." There must be, of course, "get-together" meetings in order to promote that international fellowship which we profess. It has been proposed that the club take the form of a brotherhood. The chief activities of the club outside its own circle, I believe, will be to obtain prominent lecturers of this and other countries, who happen to be passing through our city. Men, I mean, who are entrusted in International friendship, and who will speak along that line.

Suggestions from Mr. Rooley and others will be gratefully received.

Yours truly,

R. E. Brown.

Ed. Note:—No further correspondence concerning the proposed Internationalist Club will be printed.

UNBUCKLED GALOSHES

Unbuckled galoshes seen flopping along the street, it appears, have significance. A girl is engaged, or not engaged, according to the use she makes of her buckles. If her galoshes are unlaced, so are her affections. The ring, symbol of subjection, is out of date.

The innovation is attributed to the co-educational colleges. Unromantic persons ascribe the fashion to the haste needed in crossing from dormitory to classroom. But this explanation is obviously too utilitarian to be tolerated.

It is suggested by some that Douglas Fairbanks set the fashion in the screen version of "The Three Musketeers." But the weight of authority is that to the colleges belongs the honor of originating the vogue. As to the reason—let this remain shrouded in due mystery. "Who can tell what a baby thinks?" exclaimed one of our elder versifiers. "Who can tell what a flapper thinks?" or in any way ascertain the wherefore of her doings?

Nevertheless, it may be predicted that the new symbolism will pass. As from times of antiquity, the young woman will, of course, continue to place her main reliance, when she would summon followers, neither on rings nor on buckles, but on that seasoned member, the comely, higher eye.—New York Tribune.

PEPYS AT MCGILL

Tuesday, Feb. 21st. All the grave Parliamentarians about these colleges in a great fitt of mirth this day, and the reason thereof being the promulgation or setting forth of the new set of ministers of the Crown, who are to lead in the passing of bills and ordinances tomorrow night, and in truth no man can call to mind a sorrier lot in all his life than these. I do begin to notice another sort of turmoil, and that of a graver nature than the simple mockery of our arliament in the Union, which is the naming of good men and true for the divers high officers of the Cabal of our Students' Guild to which end all are wiseacres do now cast about to discover which amongst all of them is the most renowned for his athletic prowess, for without such glory he could in no way be fitted for the right direction of our student-affaires, I can now set my ale once again between the two basements of my chamber without fear of the bursting of the flagons through the cold, which is a great pleasure to me.

Dean Adams wishes to convey the appreciation of the Staff of the Faculty of Science to the men of the Science Undergraduate Society for the splendid banquet at which they were guests last night.

The conjurer was producing eggs from a top-hat. He addressed a boy in the front row.

"Your mother can't get eggs without hens, can she?" he asked.
"Oh, yes," said the boy.
"How's that?" asked the conjurer.
"She keeps ducks," answered the boy.

Thomson came back to the office looking very brown after his fortnight's holiday. To the amazement of his chief, however, he went straight in to him and asked for a few extra days off.

"Why, you've only just had your holiday" ejaculated the amazed employer. "What do you want the extra days for?"

"I want to get married, sir," Thomson answered.

"Why didn't you get married during your holidays?"

"I didn't want to spoil my holidays in that way," replied Thomson.

County Judge—"Ten dollars." Motorist—"Can you change a twenty-dollar bill?" Judge—"No, but I can change the fine. Twenty dollars."

WHERE?

The details of administration are being handled by Mr. Irwin Smith, Director of the International Students' Tours, 30 East 42nd Street, New York City, to whom all inquiries should be addressed. The fee for membership in each of the Students' Tour is $675.

The members of all four of the Students' Tours will sail from New York on July 1st, 1922, on the Cunarder "Saxonia," a single-class liner of 14,300 tons, which has been especially re-fitted to handle the movement of the International Students' Tours on both the eastbound and the return voyages. She will land the members of the British tour at Plymouth, those of the French and Italian tours at Cherbourg, and those of the Scandinavian tour at Hamburg. For the return, all four of the groups will embark at Cherbourg on August 2nd, due to arrive in New York on the 1st of September.

On shipboard there will be classes in the French and Italian languages, lectures on the history, art, architecture, culture, and industries of several countries. During trips land, the groups will constantly be under able interpretative leadership, and under the occasional instruction of distinguished scholars of the countries visited. Each of the groups will be accompanied by chaperons, protectors, and a trained nurse.

Students' Tour Through Great Britain

The members of the Students' Tour to Great Britain will spend several days in London, will visit the Universities of London, Oxford, Cambridge, and Edinburgh, the industrial centers of Manchester and Glasgow, and many places identified with the joint literary heritage of the English-speaking peoples, among them Stratford-on-Avon, Kenilworth, Melrose and Abbotsford, Loch Lomond and the Trossachs, and the English Lakes. They will spend three days in a coaching-trip through North Wales, three more in the Lake District, and nearly a week in travelling through the fastnesses of the Scotch Highlands. They will visit several of the great cathedral towns, and will cross the Channel for brief stays in Brussels, Antwerp and Paris, before embarking at Cherbourg for the return voyage.

Students' Tour Through France

The itinerary of the Students' Tour to France comprehends France in its most varied geographical and cultural aspects: Bordeaux, Marseilles, and Lyons, as representative of the commercial and industrial life of the nation; the university towns of Toulouse, Grenoble, Strasbourg; the mediaeval chateaux of the Loire; the cathedral towns—Reims, Amiens, Rouen, Chartres; the north coast of Brittany; the Pyrenees, the French Alps, the Riviera; the redeemed provinces of Alsace-Lorraine; the battlefields of the great War; and Paris, the epitome of all cultures and all epochs of human history.

Students' Tour Through Italy

The Students' Tour to Italy in 1922 will be the second of its kind to be carried out under the joint auspices of the Italy America Society and the Institute of International Education. Representatives of forty-four American colleges and universities traveled to Italy in 1921 as members of the first Students' Tour, under the official recognition and with the generous assistance of the Royal Italian Government.

The itinerary includes many of the great cities of ancient and modern Italy—Rome, Milan, Genoa, Naples and its environs, Pompeii, the hill town of Perugia, Florence, Pisa, Padua, and Venice. It provides for a three-day sojourn in the Italian Lakes, and for a trip through the battlefields in the Dolomites, where the Italian armies performed their astounding feats of military engineering during the great war. It includes the Passion Play of Oberammergau, and brief visits to Paris, Lausanne, Munich, and Lucerne, on the way from Cherbourg to the Italian frontier or on the return.

Students' Tour Through Scandinavian Countries

The itinerary of the Students' Tour to the Scandinavian Countries provides for visits to the three capital cities, Copenhagen, Christiania, and Stockholm, to the principal universities of the North, and to several other towns of great historical interest or present commercial importance. It includes the amazing journey by rail across the Norwegian plateau from Christiania to Bergen, and a ten-day trip through the Norse fjords, travelling northwards as far as Trondheim, sometimes by carriage along mountain roads, sometimes by steamer into the heart of the mountain country upon narrow waters whose rock sides rise sheer from the level of the sea. From Trondheim the group travels southward through Sweden, traverses the Swedish Lake District, and crosses the Baltic to the Continent for brief stays in Berlin, Cologne, and Paris, before going to Cherbourg for the return voyage.

In Chicago.—"Arrest that man. He's impersonating an officer."

"But how do you know he's not a genuine officer?"

"He refused to sell me any liquor."

A Limit Sentence.—Lawyer—"Will $25,000 for breach of promise be punishment enough for him?"

The Aggrieved—"No, I want him to marry me."

COMMERCE WINS FROM MACDONALD

Fast Game Gives Commerce Lead in League

In a fast match on the Campus rink last night the Commerce All-Stars defeated Macdonald to the tune of five scores to two.

In the first period the teams seemed to be evenly matched, and played a fairly rapid game. Commerce had the better of Macdonald in teamwork and speed, keeping the puck in Macdonald's territory. Bailey, of the Green and Gold showed plenty of pep and made the only two goals of the game for his team. Macdonald used all her spare before the first period ended.

Martin made two goals for Commerce and before the period was up Murphy added another.

The second half was much speedier than the first. Macdonald, however, appeared to have weakened, for the puck was constantly in their territory. Had it not been for the excellent work of Richardson, their goalie, Commerce would undoubtedly have tallied up a much higher score than they did. As it was, Macdonald's goal-keeper succeeded in keeping the puck away most of the time in splendid fashion. Two more goals got by him however, before the period was up making a total of five for Commerce and two for Macdonald.

The Business Men play very well together and leave very little work to do for their goal-keeper. But they plenty of chances to score slip by in not taking advantage of the opportunities presented them for long shots.

By winning this game they have pushed their way to be head of the Inter-Faculty league, having won a total of three games, tied one and lost one.

In today's game, the line-up was as follows:—

Commerce	Macdonald
Goal	Goal
Richardson	Richardson
Defence	Defence
Robertson	Robertson
Goldie	Goldie
Centre	Centre
Martin	Martin
L. Wing	L. Wing
Murphy	Murphy

VALUE OF EDUC'N. TO THE FARMER

Data Compiled by Dr. E. B. Brossard

Dr. E. B. Brossard, in charge of agricultural economics and farm management at the Utah Agricultural College, some time ago completed an investigation showing the value to the farmer of high school and college education. Since 1914 Dr. Brossard has been gathering interesting data on the profits derived from the farming business in and about Utah.

Labor incomes from 646 Utah farmers and the amount of schooling each had was tabulated in the form of a chart. The investigation showed that nineteen had had no formal education, 314 had attended district school, 121 had completed the grades and 192 had more than district school education. Of the 192 who had received more than a grade training 130 had attended high school and sixty-two had gone higher.

The average labor income of the nineteen who had no formal education was $445; the average of the 314 who had attended the district school was $395, the average of the 121 who had completed district school was $579, the average of the 130 who had attended high school was $805, and the average of the sixty-two who had more than high school training was $2,770.

Labor income is defined by Dr. Brossard to mean that amount over and above interest on the capital invested in the farm, the costs of operating the farm and the family on the farm.

According to Dr. Brossard's report, the difference between the income received by the farmer with grade school training or less than grade school training is growing larger every year. For instance, the difference in the average annual labor income in the years 1914-1915 was $993. That means that the farmer with more than the grade school training is making, on an average, $993 per year more than the farmer with a grade school education or less. The investigation then puts the proposition in a different light. In 1920 U. S. census shows the average mortgage rate of interest paid by farmers in Utah was 7.1 per cent. Then by capitalizing this increased annual labor income of $993 at 7.1 per cent it would amount in earning power to a capital of $13,986 and as the average farm in the state was valued at $12,130, including all necessary farm equipment, house, etc., the value of an education would be equal to an average Utah farm.

"How do you manage to sell so many fireless cookers?"

"It's due to my method of approach," said the smart salesman. "I begin my little talk by saying, 'Madam, I have called to enable you to spend every afternoon at the movies.'"

SCIENCE DEFEATED MEDS. YESTERDAY

Game Slow Owing to Poor Ice

Science all-stars defeated Medical all-stars in an inter-faculty hockey fixture yesterday afternoon. Owing to the ice being in poor condition, the game was slow, the puck being hard to carry.

In the first period Science showed a marked superiority in combination over the Meds. As a result of this they had the puck the greater part of the time and play centred around Medicine's goal. Science scored the first goal, Mackenzie being responsible for the counter on a neat bit of combination. Lanthier of Medicine evened the score by batting in the puck while a mix-up was taking place in front of the Science goal. No further scoring took place until the last five minutes of the period, when Johnson of Science brought his team into the lead by scoring a goal on an individual rush. Score at end of first period—Science 2, Medicine 1.

In the second period play started fast, individual rushes on both sides being attempted. Lanthier again secured the puck and cleverly carried it through, thus evening the score, 2-2. Play then was evenly divided on both sides, no goal being scored until Rutherford of Science secured the puck and worked his way through for what proved the deciding goal. The remainder of the period was devoid of excitement, resulting in a win for Science. Score at end of game—Science 3, Medicine 2.

For the Medics, Lanthier was the outstanding star, while Johnson of Science showed remarkable form and always was dangerous.

R.V.C. MEET M.A.A. IN FRIENDLY GAMES

Last night in gym of Monroel High School, M. A. A. and R. V. C. played a friendly game of basketball between Senior and Junior teams. The score in Senior game was 42-15 for R.V.C. and in Junior game 24-16 for R.V.C. R. V. C. Senior team on eve of departure for Toronto played a splendid exhibition game and M. A. A. put up a strong opposition against which to try their powers. If R. V. C. can display as good form at Varsity as they did last night their chances of winning seem good.

The line-up was as follows:—

R.V.C. Senior	M. A. A. Senior
Shot	Shot
J. Spier	J. Spier
R. Goodwin	R. Goodwin
Centre	Centre
T. Epstein	T. Epstein
F. Brown	F. Brown

The M. A. A. showed a fine spirit in that they played without their full team in order to give R. V. C. a final practice. The game was ably refereed by Miss Moore.

PRESBYTERIANS WIN BASKETBALL

Congregationals Lose by Score of 30-22

A fast and clean game of basketball was staged last night in Molson Hall, between the Congregational and Presbyterian Colleges. This game has been looked forward to for some time by both teams, as the last time they met the contest was a hot and close one, the Congregationals winning by one point. Both teams stepped on the floor with the determination to win if possible, and from the pace set from the beginning, and continued throughout the game, they lived up to their determination.

It was some time after the ball was "aced off" before either party tasted blood and then it was the Presbyterians through a free shot made by Amaron. This put heart into the Scotchmen and Lindsay was successful in scoring another basket. The P. C. were able to secure a lead of six points before Congregationals could find the basket, and from then to the end of the game, the contest was fast and clean, the Presbyterians keeping a lead throughout.

At the end of the first period the score was 18-9 in favor of the "Blue and White."

It seemed to be understood by both parties that there were dangerous men to be closely watched on the opposing sides. The Congregationals kept a close eye upon Amaron, which resulted in a good many free shots for the Presbyterians, as he was often watched by two men at the same time, and often was the means of drawing off the defence leaving either Avison or Lindsay uncovered who took advantage of these opportunities and made some very pretty baskets. Moore and Bronson were the stars of the Congregationals and Amaron used his weight effectively against Bronson while Moore was close watched by Hutton so that many a free shot was spoiled.

During the second period the Presbyterians lost one point in their lead due mostly to the effective shooting of Moore in the free throws. The game ended however with the score of 30-22 in favor of the "P. C."

The line-up was as follows.

Presbyterians	Congregationals
Forwards	Forwards
Moore	Moore
Sanders	Sanders
Centre	Centre
Bronson	Bronson
Defence	Defence
Smith	Smith
Whitmore	Whitmore
Spares	Spares

STRENUOUS PRACTICE FOR ALL BUT GOALERS

The two polo teams held a strenuous work-out yesterday afternoon, the first after their victory over Varsity last Saturday. All the men were in good condition and worked well together. Two much-needed men were missing from the line-up, to wit, the two goalies. Their presence is requested at the next rally of the clan, which will be on Thursday at 5.15. Everyone is playing hard and their will be no scarcity of shots for them. Both will be kept busy.

WESLEYAN COLLEGE HOLD SPORT NIGHT

Principal Smythe Present at Students' Rally

The Wesleyan College had what was known as an "Open House" on Monday night. A program of sports had been drawn up and all the events were keenly contested. Faith won the broad jump, McDermott the high, Adams the shot put, while Genroy pulled through in the potato race. A large number of spectators were on hand who made their presence known when the last event was being run off. This caused much excitement, as many who were running well were gradually eliminated, and the result was in doubt till the last "potato" had been dropped. These events were followed by a short basketball game, the first half of which was spent in explaining to each player which side he was playing on; and the other half, the winning team used for shooting baskets.

The presence of Principal and Mrs. Smythe and Prof. Graham was greatly appreciated. This was Principal Smythe's first appearance among the students since his illness and all are glad to have him back again.

PETROVA AS AUTHOR

The fact that Olga Petrova has come back to town in a play of her own authorship to appease the press agent, "The White Peacock"—has served to considerable career as a writer. At all events, the records show that she was the first woman reporter on the old London Tribune, and that fact is worthy of being recorded.

It was in the hope of a theatrical engagement that Mme. Petrova had come to London from her native Warsaw—she was the daughter of an English father and a Polish mother—and it was when the stage career failed to materialize that she became a reporter. Her salary on The Tribune was a pound a week, and her assignments were concerned mainly in the station house and police courts.

When she got her theatrical start she relegated her writing to second place, and there it has remained. But, as she flaunted through the movies, vaudeville and the legitimate, she has never left her literary ambitions entirely behind her. She has written numerous short stories—many of them published in The Smart Set and Ainslee's—and is also the author of a number of one act plays. Unless she is concealing something however, "The White Peacock" is her first full-length play.

That play, incidentally, will be issued by the Four Seas Press in book form in the near future, and the same house will also bring out a volume of the Petrova short stories. Mme. Petrova incidentally was the author of most of the film stories in which she appeared—for which she may or may not deserve credit.

And, apropos of Mme. Petrova's acting and not her writing, how many persons recall that her first American appearance was made in the Follies Bergere subsequently the Fulton?

NOTICES

There will be a lecture under the auspices of the Alpha Omega Alpha. Honorary Medical Society, in the new Med. Building at eight forty-five p.m. on Saturday, February twenty-fourth. The lecturer will be professor J. Ewing professor of Pathology at Cornell University, and his subject will be "The Importance of Pathological Anatomy."

Have you ever thought of the interest that is attached to the departure of a train? Where are all the people going, and why? Much greater is the excitement when intercollegiate teams take their departure for far fields, with the intention of gaining new laurels.

And when the aforementioned intercollegiate teams are the far-famed R. V. C. basketball and hockey sextette—plus spares—surely the platform of the Windsor Station ought to be jammed with people. Visitors to the city will probably see this bright array and think there a fire but upon enquiring they will be informed that it is only the bright sweaters of the loyal McGillites.

Will you be one of the throng to cheer as the train goes out? How about a good strong healthy, lusty, roaring, ferocious McGill yell as the train pulls out?

So—everybody! The train for Toronto leaves Windsor station at 10.30 P. M.—and the McGill girls will be on board. Give them a rousing send-off!

PARLIAMENTARY NEWS

The following statement has been given to the "Daily" as being an authentic expression of one of the leading parties inaugurated at the "Mock Parliament." The "Daily" will publish from time to time developments which may take place in the political situation from the viewpoint of each individual party.

THE REVOLUTIONARY PARTY.

PARTY PROGRAMME

Tonight the new Government faces an infamous hostile coalition of the former Prime Minister and Leader of the Opposition. It extremely regrets that the hallowed halls wherein the Parliament sits should be profaned by the spectacle of the union of two men who have cherished life-long principles so little as to forget them in a moment to enter into a non-descript opposition coalition. Their combined voices shall cry "in the wilderness" for they advocate oligarchical autocracy in a democratic country.

The Government cherishes its democratic ideals before all things, and is prepared to spare no effort in securing for the Canadian University students full justice. By a series of resolutions it shall prepare the way to elevate the student's position and secure for Canada's future leaders a measure of comfort and recognition. These resolutions will embrace the original platform of the Revolutionary Party. Beer is requisite and necessary for the student; it is inspiration; it denotes a free and democratic country.

That Canada shall no longer be compelled to witness suffering, and want which shame her citizens, the new Government is determined and this very object shall be attained tonight. By a sweeping National Welfare Act the Government will provide for the welfare of all its citizens; systematic taxation shall be imposed, especially upon the rich and capitalist class, to provide great sums to achieve independence for all citizens; and by well-devised precautions the receipt of out-of-work insurance payments shall be prevented; new and great works shall be undertaken to insure every man's employment; but in any case every one shall be recipient of a generous living allowance. Nor shall boys or women be employed at manual tasks.

The Revolutionary Party has nothing but contempt for an opposition which continues to support the existence of examinations and all forms of such tyranny, and willingly permits students and citizens to suffer and all the iniquities of an inhuman capitalist state to continue. The Revolutionary Party is the people and will secure a new democracy for the people.

NEW APPOINTMENTS

The Government may find it necessary to make further appointments of intrinsically great importance, with respect to the distribution of the vodka, the height of galoches, and the enforcement under the Department of Justice of regulations respecting experiments in new and hitherto unexplored realms. The name of Y. M. Webster is prominently mentioned as a possible new chief official in some of the above capacities. Meanwhile, the cabinet ministers have been very active. Major-Gen. Brewer yesterday held an inspection of Canada's Fighting Forces and reviewed the Canadian Navy (in Pathe News). Hon. Mr. Clarke, Minister of Labor, made a rapid trip to England and back Tuesday morning to secure certain facts for the bill on Welfare he is introducing this evening. On his way his aeroplane was fired at by the opposition forces. Hon. Mr. Read, Minister of Education, has been to see Sir Arthur Currie and partook of tea with him. The Minister of Morals and Discipline, Lemesieure, has been diligently perusing the Koran.

MURDEROUS ATTACK

A murderous and surprise attack was made last evening upon the lives of Prime Minister Jones and Minister of Finance Amaron. While the two were assembled in prayer for the success of the people through the Revolutionary Party, in lessening the tax on chewing gum, Strathcona Hall was invaded by armed men, who opened fire upon them. Jones sustained seven bullet wounds and Amaron was hit in eight separate and distinct places. Fortunately neither of the gentlemen feels any worse as the result of the incident. But the affair might have ended disastrously had it not been for arrival of a detachment of the McGill C.O.T.C. under former Premier Peterson and Leader of the Opposition Dillon, who at the risk of their lives saved their friends. It is said that when the rescue was effected, and eighteen men lay dead upon the floor, the two rescued and two rescuers fell into each other's arms and wept, kissing one another fondly. Such friendship is the dearest thing on earth.

It is not unlikely that the new Government shall undertake to improve certain persons for the attempted breach of the peace. Following such impeachment it is authoritatively stated that those convicted of participation in the dastardly plot shall be hanged or otherwise reprimanded.

Least a similar attempt be made this evening, General Brewer, Minister of Militia, has issued orders that a machine gun attachment of the McGill C.O.T.C. be stationed on the roof of the Union, to open fire upon suspected persons. It is said that he has sanctioned the shooting of any members of the Opposition, and Solicitor-General Cowan is preparing to justify such action on behalf of the paternal Revolutionary Government.

R.V.C. ATH. TEAMS TO INVADE TORONTO

All Aboard for Toronto! Sweet music this, for the R. V. C. Athletic Teams. To-night, at 10.30 R. V. C. Hockey and Basketball squads leave Windsor Station for Toronto There to compete with both Varsity and Queens.

Both teams are in excellent condition, and are confident of giving an excellent account of themselves.

These teams have been working faithfully all season—it is only logical therefore, to suppose that their opponents will have to be more than the ordinary to overcome R. V. C.

Plans are under way to give the teams an elaborate "Send off", at the Windsor Station to-night.

All set for the best Informal? Let's go!

ANOTHER UNIVERSITY SERVICE TO BE HELD

A University Church Service is to be held in the McGill Union on Sunday, Feb. 26th, at 11 a.m. The speaker on this occasion will be Dr. Richard Roberts of the American Presbyterian Church. Principal Rexford will preside, and Sir Arthur Currie will also be part. All arrangements for the service are being carried out by the students. A mixed choir and orchestra will be on hand to lead in the musical part of the programme.

Dr. Roberts, who has but recently assumed his duties as minister of the American Presbyterian Church, has already introduced himself most favorably to a considerable number of McGill men who have visited his church. But it is not known to many, perhaps, how great Dr. Roberts' reputation as a students' preacher. During his ministry both in England and the United States, he has maintained a connection with student life and particularly with the Student Christian Movement in both countries. It is significant that the first statement which the "Star" reporter secured from him on his arrival recently from England had reference to the Christian Movement in British Universities. Dr. Roberts was known to many Canadian students long before he came to Canada through his books "The Renaissance of Faith", "The Untried Door", and "That One Face". The service on Sunday will provide a fitting introduction to McGill University.

This is to be a meeting for University people, and it is hoped that both students and professors will give support, and be present on Sunday morning.

"So you visited my commercial school for young ladies?" "I did." "And were greatly edified, I think, by the thoroughness of the course?" "Oh, yes. When I was there the girls were having 'cos-powdering practice'."

Amateur Golfer—"The day I get around these links in less than a hundred I'll give you a shilling." Caddie—"Thank ye, sir. I'll come in handy in the old age."
